You and Morielb come on a sunny walk. We played at the basketball court, we walked through a building, went in the glass elevator, played at the grassy library yard and visited the therapy dogs.

You offered to carry the back pack - being a team player. You helped keep the children safe by holding hands, giving them reminders on how to walk safely and letting the educators ahead know we all need to stop so a child can get rocks out of shoes.

You notice what children ~~do~~ are more successful with other children as partners.

You enjoyed the walk and seemed caring and responsible.

You kept me informed of observations you've had with the children.

You also took initiative on helping a child and family at drop off time.

I'm so impressed by you!
